We invite you to join us as a lead sponsor to celebrate the achievement that created the place we call home.

In 1873, community leaders finally, after several failed attempts, successfully separated the region now known as Ventura County from Santa Barbara County.

This move created a unique community in charge of its own destiny.

In the ensuing 150 years, Ventura County has developed into a region known for its agriculture, industry, and innovation.

Led by the County of Ventura, five groups have joined together to provide an exciting series of events, activities, and programs this year: events, festivals, exhibits, online programs, interactives, a book, and more will engage the community, showcase our cultural diversity, and honor our rich history.
